Where is the Conference Hotel?

The Washington Marriott Wardman Park is located at 2660 Woodley Rd NW, Washington, DC. Make sure to venture outside the immediate area. With Cleveland Park to the north, Adams Morgan to the east, and Dupont to the south—walking 20 minutes in any direction offers countless options for food, drinks and shopping.

Transportation: General Information

Metro: The Metrorail service will get you close to many of your destinations, with just a short walk to get where you want to go. The Metrorail system has six color-coded lines (see Metro Map on page 6). The direction of your train is determined by the last stop in the direction you are traveling. The stations where two or more Metrorail lines cross are called “transfer points.” Signs in the station will direct you to your train. Fares are higher during peak hours (weekdays, 5-9:30 a.m. and 3-7 p.m.). The hotel is just a 5-minute walk from the Woodley Park-Zoo Station (Red Line). You can read more about the Metrorail system here: <https://washington.org/navigating-dc-metro>

- Tip: When riding the escalator, stand to your right, walk to your left.
- Tip: No eating or drinking on the metro.
- Tip: If you get on your train the wrong way, simply get off at the next stop. At larger stations, you will need to take the escalator to cross to the other side of the tracks.

To take the metro or bus, purchase a SmarTrip card at a Metrorail Fare Card Vending Machine. Load a designated amount on your SmarTrip card and tap your card at the gate. The fare card machines provide information on the cost from your station to your destination. Peak hours: fares usually range from $2.25 to $6 per trip. Off-peak hours: typically from $1.85 to $3.85.

Bus Service: Use a SmarTrip card or cash on a Metrobus. Fares for regular routes are $2.00. Seniors and persons with disabilities ride for $1.00 for regular routes. You must have exact change. Have your pass, transfer or exact fare ready when you board. DC Circulator: The DC Circulator¹ offers bus service between several very popular neighborhoods. The Green Route stops right outside the Woodley Park-Zoo (metro Red Line) and at Calvert St and Lanier Pl NW in Adams Morgan, and the McPherson Square Metro Station on the Blue and Orange Lines. The Blue Route serves Dupont Circle and Georgetown in DC, and Rosslyn across the Potomac River in Arlington, Virginia.

Capital Bikeshare: Interested in seeing DC on two wheels? Capital Bikeshare has over 350 stations across DC, Maryland and Virginia. Rent a bike from one station and drop it off at any of the other designated stations. One ride costs $2, a 24-hour pass costs $8, and a 3-day pass runs $17. The closest bike station is located at Calvert St and Woodley Pl NW (just a 7-minute walk from the hotel). Navigate to this site to join:

<https://www.capitalbikeshare.com/pricing>. Our interactive map² includes a bike route from the hotel to the National Mall, where you can visit monuments and museums.

Taxi and Ridesharing: You can hail a cab from most places around the city, but you can also download the DC Taxi app. The app allows you to choose from regular, large, or wheel-chair accessible vehicles. Taxi fare is on a meter system with the fee determined by the length of trip, and most taxis accept credit cards. Get a taxi by standing at the side of the street and wave your hand! The city is also served by private ridesharing companies, Uber, Lyft and Via. These apps allow you to request a car and payment is made through the credit card on your account.

Getting to / from the hotel

From Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA): Metro will take you about 40 minutes. Take the Yellow Line (toward Greenbelt, Mt Vernon Sq or Fort Totten), get off at the Chinatown-Gallery Place Station, and transfer to the Red Line (toward Grosvesnor or Shady Grove); OR take the Blue line (toward Largo Town Center), get off at the Metro Center Station, and transfer to the Red Line (toward Grosvesnor or Shady Grove). A taxi, Uber or Lyft to the hotel will usually cost $19-$25 (and typically take 20-25 minutes, depending on traffic). Look for signs when you leave baggage claim. Shuttle:³ Check the listing for available shuttles, reservation information, and schedules.

Dulles International Airport (IAD): Metro Silver Line does not yet extend all the way to Dulles. To take metro, you will need to take the Silver Line Express bus to the Wiehle-Reston East Metrorail station (15 minute trip, cost is $5 cash or credit, no SmarTrip card). Then, transfer to the Red Line at Metro Center in the direction of Shady Grove. Shuttle:⁴ The shared shuttle is an easier way to get from Dulles Airport to the Marriott Wardman. The cost is $30 one way plus gratuity/tip. Taxi: Uber and Lyft usually cost $45, but check to see if surge pricing is in effect. Washington Flyer Taxi service is available. Follow signs to the taxi queue. It will cost about $60 (not including tip) to take a taxi from Dulles International Airport to the Marriott Wardman.

Thurgood Marshall Baltimore Washington International Airport (BWI): BWI is the furthest of the three airports from the Marriott Wardman, but often has very low airfares. An Uber or Lyft typically costs $60 one way, but check to see if surge pricing is in effect. We do not recommend taking a regular taxi since fares can cost upwards of $100 or more one way. Shuttle:⁵ A shared van to the hotel will cost about $48. The shuttle services have desks inside the terminal. Follow the signs to ground transportation. Amtrak/MARC Rail:⁶ Trains are on fixed schedules. MARC is a commuter train that might work out if you are ready to travel to DC during rush hour Monday to Friday (early morning or afternoon). You can take a shuttle from the airport to the train station. Check the websites for more information. Metro: Metro offers BWI Express Metrobus service between BWI and the Greenbelt metro station. The BWI Express/B30 service runs every

What to see and do

Washington, D.C. has plenty of arts, culture and sporting activities to keep you busy and entertained. If you stay a few extra days in the DC area, this list provides some recommended activities and places to visit.

What's going on around DC: To find out what is going on around DC, check out the Washington Post Going out Guide.⁷ The Cultural Tourism DC Event Calendar also has great information on upcoming events.⁸

Restaurants: Washington Evaluators has developed an interactive map. Feel free to use this to find restaurants and bars near the hotel.⁹ Check local newspapers, including the Washington Post, Express, or City Paper entertainment guides.

Museums: You can find a list of museums, free and paid on DC's official tourism site.¹⁰ Every museum that is part of the Smithsonian Institution has free access. Check out the website¹¹ to plan your visit to any of the 19 museums, gardens, or the zoo (near the hotel) while you're in town. The Smithsonian's newest addition, the *National Museum of African American History & Culture*¹² is a popular destination, but you need a timed entry pass to visit. Check the website to see if Same-Day tickets are available.¹³ The National Archives, where you can view the US Constitution and Declaration of Independence, is free to visit, although tickets can also be reserved online for a nominal fee.¹⁴ There are also plenty of other paid museums that visitors may find interesting, like the *Newseum*¹⁵ or the International Spy Museum.¹⁶ The collection of the National Gallery of Art (free) consists of Byzantine to contemporary art, and includes a Leonardo da Vinci painting that is painted on both sides.¹⁷

National Mall and Memorial Park: The National Park Service has a map of the National Mall, including all monuments.¹⁸ Bike route: You can rent a bike and ride to these site (use our interactive map for the route).¹⁹ Walking tour: Here is a suggestion for a 90-minute walking tour: Get off metro at the Smithsonian stop, walk east past the Air and Space Museum, Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden, and Botanical Gardens; pause at the Capitol Reflecting Pool; continue around past the National Gallery of Art, and Museums of American History and Natural History. Continue walking toward the Washington Monument. You can take a detour from the Washington Monument to Constitution Ave for a glimpse of the White House (between 16th and 17th St). From the Washington Monument, if you have time, continue on to the Jefferson Memorial. If short on time, turn back and retrace your steps back to the Martin Luther King Memorial (further on you will find the FDR Memorial). At the MLK Memorial, you can cross Independence Avenue. You will then see the World War II, Korean Memorial, Vietnam Memorials, and the Reflecting Pool. Continue to the Lincoln Memorial. The Vietnam Memorial is on the opposite side of Reflecting Pool. From the Lincoln Memorial you can walk up 23rd street to the Foggy Bottom Metro Station.

The Arlington National Cemetery: This US military cemetery is located in Arlington, Virginia. You can visit the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and President Kennedy's gravesite, and the US Marine Corps / Iwo Jima Memorial (next to Arlington Cemetery).²⁰

Federal Government Buildings: The White House Visitors Center is at 14th St and Pennsylvania Ave NW.²¹ You can also book a tour of the U.S. Capitol.²²

Suggestions for Independent Sightseeing

Visit the Washington Evaluators site for our short guide for independent sightseeing, including sites near and far from the hotel.²³

Other Attractions: Washington, DC has an excellent *tourism website*²⁴ that explains sites to see, provides tips on accessing our many free museums, and explains the neighborhoods in the city. The city offers many interesting diversions, including arts and cultural destinations and outdoor experiences. Here are some of the city's many sites that might entice you to stay that extra day.

- The National Zoo (free entry, near hotel)²⁵
- National Arboretum²⁷
- John F. Kennedy Center for Performing Arts²⁹
- Howard Theatre³¹
- Basilica of the National Shrine²⁶
- Washington National Cathedral²⁸
- Historic Synagogue (6th and I Streets NW)³⁰

Washington, DC is quickly becoming a city of murals. If you're tired of walking around the Smithsonian museums, you can also get your art fix by wandering around the city's neighborhoods. MuralsDC is a project funded by the DC Department of Public Works, in cooperation with the DC Commission on the Arts and the Humanities. Since its pilot in 2007, MuralsDC has painted more than 70 murals in every ward of the city. You can learn more about this initiative here³³ and even plot your own walking tour by using their mural locator³⁴.

Neighborhood Heritage Trails

Many visitors see DC as only being the seat of government, but residents have contributed to the city's rich history since its founding. Cultural Tourism DC³⁵ has organized self-guided walking tours of nearly every neighborhood. If you're interested in seeing more than monuments and museums, hop on the bus or metro to a different part of town and then follow one of the Cultural Tourism DC guides, which can be downloaded or accessed on your mobile device. As you're walking, look out for Heritage Trail signs to learn more about local neighborhood culture and history.

Washingtonian Guide to Washington, DC: Trails for Hiking, Biking, and More: includes descriptions of and directions to local trails.³⁶

Music and Entertainment: Some of our favorite theaters are metro accessible or a 15-20 minute cab ride from the hotel. Here are some that might be of interest:

- The Kennedy Center (book tickets) and Millennium Stage (free performances every day at 6:00PM)³⁷
- Shakespeare Theatre Company (Sidney Harmon Hall and Lansburgh Theatre)³⁸
- Howard Theatre³⁹
- Studio Theatre⁴⁰
- Warner Theatre⁴¹
- Woolly Mammoth⁴²
- National Theater⁴³

Other notable music venues include *Madam's Organ*⁴⁴ and *Songbyrd*⁴⁵ in Adams Morgan (near the conference hotel), *U Street Music Hall*⁴⁶ and the *9:30 Club*⁴⁷ (once voted the best music venue in the country), and *Gypsy Sally's*⁴⁸ in Georgetown. If you're interested in hanging out with some local musicians, make sure to check out the weekly drum circle at Malcolm X / Meridian Hill Park on Sundays at 3pm.

Metro Map

Restaurant Guide: November 2017

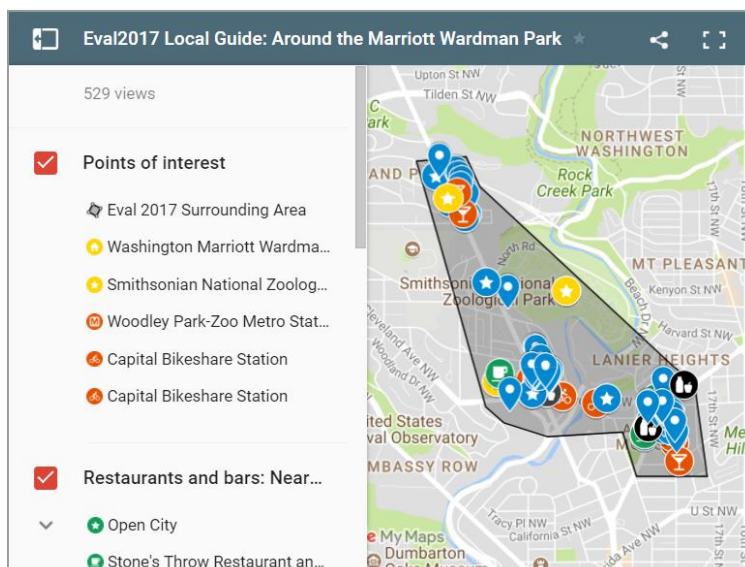

The Local Arrangements Working Group (LAWG) has assembled a list of restaurants that we hope will shorten the time you need to search for places and lengthen the time you can spend enjoying yourselves. After listing some common search engines you can use to find restaurants, this guide includes favorites from LAWG members and other listings sourced from local and credible sources.

Local Guide: Around the Marriott Wardman Park

Interactive Map

To make it easier to navigate the area surrounding the Marriott Wardman Park, we've listed locations in three nearby neighborhoods: Woodley Park (where the hotel is located), Cleveland Park (about a 20-minute walk north), and Adams Morgan (about a 20-minute walk east). On the map, below, you'll find restaurants to grab lunch or dinner (blue pin), breakfast spots and coffeehouses (green coffee mug icon); grocery stores (black icon); and bars (red glass icon). We've also marked transportation options like the metro and Capital BikeShare stations.

You can view this map on your phone by using the Google Maps app.⁵⁴

In Woodley Park, many of the restaurants surrounding the hotel offer happy hour specials. Bars in Adams Morgan are a little more diverse, offering everything from happy hour, live music, and karaoke.

All pins on the map are linked to a location's website. So, if you're interested in finding a bar or restaurant to host your Topical Interest Group (TIG) outing, you can easily find a venue, see Google reviews, and contact them to make a reservation.

You'll also find a few directions that you can activate, including walking directions to the National Zoo or a bicycle route to the Smithsonian Museums / National Mall area.

Don't Take Our Word for It, Look at These Resources!

Here are some online resources for selecting restaurants and other places to get refreshments. Most include ratings from their members or subscribers. Many of the websites listed below also have user-friendly apps available.

⁵⁴ <https://goo.gl/GCyKqA>. If viewing a PDF version of this guide, hover over the map and Ctrl + Click to follow link.

Google Maps: <http://maps.google.com/>. Generate a quick map to search for restaurants. Just enter your search criteria in the window (e.g. restaurants near Marriott Wardman), and hit return.

Open Table: <http://www.opentable.com/washington-dc-restaurants>. Make on-line reservations and read restaurant reviews.

Yelp: www.yelp.com/dc. There are 158 listings within a one-mile walk of the hotel, located across three neighborhoods (Woodley Park, Cleveland Park and Adams Morgan).

We've also highlighted a few highly ranked restaurants across these three neighborhoods, listed below. This list includes the type of food, contact information, and whether the location is good for groups (for TIG and other events).

Conference Hotel: The Marriott Wardman has its own coffee area, bars and restaurants, but we recommend exploring the surrounding neighborhoods. There are lots of places within walking distance to please the most discriminating palate and the tightest per diem.

Looking for a restaurant that can accommodate your group? Group restaurants are always in demand for TIG meetings, university and other group receptions and get-togethers, and more impromptu gatherings. Here are some questions you can ask establishments to determine if their restaurant will meet your large group needs.

1. Do they take reservations, and for what size group?
2. Do they have private rooms? Will they reserve a private room for happy hour or dinner, and for how large a group?
3. Do they charge a deposit for a large group or use of a private room? Does it have to be paid at the time of the reservation, and if yes, is it refundable and with how much notice?
4. Is there a food or drink minimums if a room is reserved?
5. Do they offer happy hour specials, a fixed price menu, or a catering menu for a group?
6. Do they offer gluten free, vegetarian, or vegan food?
7. What's the noise level like?
8. Can you determine the quality of the food, based on website rankings/scores and LAWG member feedback?
9. How's the cost ($=cheap eats; $$=moderate; $$$=pricy; $$$$=per diem buster)?
10. Is it open for breakfast or lunch as well?
